Reception at Board of Trade Rooms-Today's Program.

Although yesterday opened with hreats of rain, this failed to materialize, and the day was a perfect one for our eminent guests from Delaware to enjoy the sights of Norfolk and its im-mediate sister cities and environs.

At $:30 a. m. Supt. Rosborough, of the Norfolk street railways, had two fine cars in waiting for the guests at the Monticello Hotel. The visitors were placed in these with the local Commit-placed in these with the local Committee of Entertainment divided up to point out all points of interest. The first things to attract the attention of the visitors were the stately new business blocks rising on Granby sreet, and then, further out, the beautiful and tasteful modern residences in our western suburbs.

The first part of the long but delightful trip over the street railways was to Atlantic City ward and Lambert's Point, where the sliver plating works and Norfolk silk mill gave evidence of Norfolk's increasing importance in the line of varied manufactures and the large area of land yet open for sites for manufacturing plants of all kinds. The big coal piers of the Norfolk and Western Railway, where the famous Pocahontas coal finds its outlet to the sea, also attracted the intelligent attention of the party.

TO THE CITY PARK.

Returning by way of the Country Club and its golf links, the party reached Main street and rode on through Brambleton to Church street, out Church street to the City Park, and then down Church, Main and Granby streets to the Mondeello Hotel.

TO THE NAVY YARD. TO THE NAVY YARD.

After a brief rest the party proceeded to the Boston wharf, where the handsome tug Pocahontas, generously provided by Captain John Twohy, and the large tug E. T. Williams, courteously reserved for the party by her owner, Captain E. T. Williams, were in waiting. At sharp 12 m. the tugs started, steaming first to the navy yard. Here the many interesting guns mounted there were inspected. It was a great treat for the visitors to see the old guns that spoke for our liberty in 1776 side by side with guns captured in the War of 1812, in the Mexican War, and modern guns taken from the Spanish ships sunk at Santiago.

GUESTS OF CAPT. SIGSBEE.

modern guns taken from the Spanish ships sunk at Santiago.

GUESTS OF CAPT. SIGSBEE.

The Navy Yard visit wound up with a call on the battleship Texas, now lying there. Here a rare pleasure met the party, for they were received as they came aboard by Capt. Sigsbee, one of the heroes of the Maine. With the members of the party around him he welcomed them to the Texas, and then briefly explained to them the principles of her construction, her honeycomb of water-tight compartments, armament and equipment.

Capt. Sigsbee then called up a number of his men and sent them as guides to conduct the visitors all over the Texas and explain to them the operation of the guns, etc. For half an hour the party examined the Texas, visiting all points high and low and acquiring a better knowledge of Uncle Sam's fighting machines than they ever had before. The men of every rank aboard the Texas are splendid specimens of intelligence and American manhood, and tis no surprise that with such "men behind the guns," commanded by brave officers like Capt. Sigsbee, victory follows our flag.

IMPROMPTU CONCERT.

IMPROMPTU CONCERT.

A pleasing little incident not down on the program was an improptu concert on the Texas by the celebrated Temple Maie Quartetle, of Wilmington, Del. These gentlemen sang "The Bridge."
Next Mr. A. C. Bartlett, a noted elocutionist of Wilmington, gave a thrilling recliation, "The Battle of Manila Bay."
As an encore he gave "A Toast to the Maine." a graceful tribute to Captain Sigsbee and his men. As the songs and recitations were given the crew of the Texas stood by enjoying them, and the sailor boys applauded lustily, especially the to2st to the Maine.

AROUND THE HARBOR.

At 1:40 p. m. the party again boarded the tugs, which steamed out as far as Lambert's Point, to allow a view of the U. S. Marine Hospital, old Fort Norfolk, Pinner's Point, Lambert's Point's coal piers, and the forest of shipping waiting for coal. At 2:15 the tugs returned to Norfolk, and the visitors proceeded to the Monticello for luncheon. luncheon. VISIT TO BERKLEY.

VISIT TO BERKILEY.

At 4:30 P. M. all went over fo Berkley, where they were met at the ferry wharf by Mr. T. H. Synon, president of the Berkley Street Rallway Company; Messrs. A. H. Martin, clerk of the Court of Norfolk County; C. L. Old, City Recorder; William Tillotson, superintendent of the Berkley Street Rallway; W. S. Rudd, Chief of Police, and Messrs. J. H. Jacocks and W. L. Baille, members of the Berkley City Council. Mr. Synon had two cars in waiting, and here the party became the guests of Mr. Synon and the Councilmen of Berkley. A ride followed over the entire Berkley line out to the Berkley let entire Berkley line out to the Berkley as enlivened by songs by the Temple Quariette and recitations by Mr. Bartlett. The Berkley trip over, the party returned to the Monticello for dinner and a little rest before the entertainment for the evening.

INVITED TO DELAWARE.

Hon. John P. Donahoe, of Wilmington, was introduced by Mr. Stengle as an ex-Senator, ex-delegate and exmember of the Constitutional Convention, all in one suit of clothes. Mr. Donahoe then spoke briefly and invited the Norfolk entertairers to visit Wilmington and allow the Delaware people a chance to reciprocate. The balance of the evening was devoted to sociable concourse and songs, in which all united. The evening was delightful in every respect and much enjoyed by both guests and entertainers; in fact, as it turned out, the Delawareans, through their splendid quartette and Mr. Bartlett, did a great share of the entertaining.

OYSTER SHUCKER'S STRIKE.

SEVENTY-SEVEN MEN , JOINED THEIR RANKS YESTERDAY.

SEVENTY-SEVEN MEN, JOINED THEIR RANKS YESTERDAY.

The only development in the oyster shuckers' strike yesterday was the quitting of seventy-seven hands employed by Hepkins & Co. This number of Union men walked out of this packing house upon being informed that on and after next Monday the firm would employ no shucker belonging to the Union.

All the packers of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Berkley are said to have taken a firm stand against the Union. Not a single Union man will be employed by any of the packing houses after to-morrow. When Mr. Hemingway, of Hemingway & Co., leading packers of this section, was asked yesterday if there was a possibility of settling the trouble with the Union if the latter would agree to abide by all regulations of the packers, replied that no agreement would be made with the Union as such, but Union shuckers who had quit work would be taken back if they would renounce all connection whatever would be made to the Union. Mr. Hemingway was surprised that the Union leaders denied responsibility for the strike. Of course they did not previously order this particular strike, he said, but the Union had made such regulations, etc., governing its members in thir work that it was understood that all Union men should walk out if their leaders in the packing houses gave the word. These leaders were discharged, and the strike of the Union shuckers was the natural consequence of the Union's action.

It is expected that the Union will hold out for a while, at least. Some of the packers believe that the Union men, and it is thought that for a few days shuckers will be scarce around the packing houses. Many of the firms will bring shuckers from Baltimore, it is said.

dicate will submit a proposition to the General Assembly this winter to purchase the oyster grounds of Virginia attracts much attention in official and political circles.

All of tidewater will be arrayed against the project, and there is little likelihood of anything coming out of it. Some of the highest legal authorities hold that the State cannot dispose of the oyster grounds without an amendment to the Constitution.

Governor Tyler does not seem to think much of the idea. He says that where he has been everybody was satisfied with the new fisheries law, under which the State realized $30,000 tims year from the oyster beds.

During Governor Mokinney's administration the representative of a New York syndicate offered to submit a proposition to assume the State debt in exchange for the oyster beds, but the Governor did not even lay it before the Legislature.

Barrett, made a brief but interesting address, in which he spoke of the devotion of the membership to the work of the church, the progress made during the conference year just closed, and the bright prospect before the church in the future for accomplishing yet greater good for the Master. He counselled the members to put on the whole armor of God during the new conference year, soon to be ushered in upon them.

After singing, the business meeting was called to order by Dr. Barrett, who announced that the reading of reports from the various departments of church work was in order. PASTOR'S REPORT.

PASTON'S REPORT.

Dr. Barrett read his report. It showed that the spiritual condition of the church, while not up to the standard of the New Testament Church, was nevertheless in a measure progressive and encouraging. The trials through which the church has passed had made it better and stronger for the conflict against the world. A revival meeting was held last spring, in which many souls were blessed by a deeper spiritual life in Christ.

The financial condition of the church shows an encouraging exhibit. During the conference year now closing the church has kept a Bible woman in the church has kept a Bible woman in the rorigm work in Africa, a native evangelist in Japan, and in addition to the regular missionary funds, has raised more than half of the amount needed to meet the deficiency in the general foreign work.
